We are excited about welcoming you as a prospective student of Antillean Adventist University. We value each student and believe that the diversity you bring enriches all of us. Since Antillean Adventist University is a Christian campus we wanted to take this opportunity to introduce our campus-life program and hope that you will treasure the special educational environment we have attempted to create.

The mission of Antillean Adventist University is to provide higher education to those who wish to study within the context of a holistic educational philosophy as defined by the Seventh-day Adventist Church. It endeavors to prepare competent individuals to serve Church and society as agents of positive change. The mission is carried out in a Christian environment through teaching and learning, research, cultural enrichment, and supportive personnel services.

Antillean Adventist University is owned and operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Students attending our University do not need to belong to our faith, but we ask that our on-campus value system be respected. Due to the University's Christian emphasis, we meet on different occasions during the week to give our students an opportunity to participate in non-academic activities. These devotional services are provided at convenient times and we welcome you to participate.

The University Student Handbook outlines the standards expected for students of Antillean Adventist University. Students are encouraged to act in ways that support the deepest respect for each other's rights and feelings. Personal appearance should reflect modesty and good taste. We promote a balanced lifestyle that maximizes good health and academic development. Students are expected to refrain from the use of alcoholic beverages, tobacco, or illegal drugs while enrolled at the University. For more information about our regulations and policies, you can access the following web address: <http://www.uaa.edu/esp/index.php/servicios-al-estudiante>.

I hereby certify that, after reading this document, I accept and understand all of its content and agree to abide to all of the above mentioned while enrolled at the Antillean Adventist University. I agree to comply all the norms, policies and regulations of Antillean Adventist University as published in the Catalogue, in the Student's Manual, in any other bulletins or of the administration or as directed by any officer or professor of the University while enrolled as a student.

FORM FOR REFUSAL OF DISCLOSURE OF DIRECTORY INFORMATION

The Family and Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a federal law that requires that the Antillean Adventist University (UAA), with certain exceptions, obtain your written consent before disclosing personal identifiable information from education records. However, the UAA may disclose basic directory information that is generally not considered harmful or an invasion of privacy without your consent. The main purpose of the disclosure of directory information is to allow the Institution to include this type of information in certain publications, such as brochures for presentations, programs, graduation, convocation of honor, and sports activities. In addition, this information may be disclosed to external organizations such as federal and state agencies that provide work and educational benefits, the media and companies that publish programs and yearbooks.

The detailed information has been designated as directory information under FERPA, and therefore, may be disclosed at the discretion of the UAA. You have the right to inform UAA not to disclose this information in whole or in part, without obtaining your prior written consent by completing this form. Your decision on this form will be valid as long as you remain an active student (currently enrolled in the UAA).
